Description/content	The TübAix Bachelor's programme aims at introducing students from German-speaking countries and French-speaking countries to a binational approach to historical studies. Special emphasis lies in the specific theoretical and methodological approaches of academic research in France and Germany, familiarising the students with both university systems. The fields of study include all epochs of European history as well as global approaches that are specific to each university. Tübingen offers the study of North American and Eastern European history. Aix-Marseille focuses on the African and Middle Eastern areas. Regional studies are included in the programmes of both universities, as well as seminars in auxiliary sciences of history. The students also select a minor, such as geography, French or German literature, or history of art. The intercultural dimension is at the heart of the programme, as French- and German-speaking students complete their studies side by side and are able to assist each other as they work in tandem.

The Universities of Tübingen and Aix-Marseille also offer the TübAix Master's programme in history, based on the TübAix Bachelor's programme.

The Franco-German University awards students of the TübAix programme with a scholarship during the year abroad.

Services

Possibility of finding part-time employment

Participants have all the job opportunities of a typical medium-sized university town (Tübingen/Aix), such as jobs in gastronomy, retail, local media, etc. The universities themselves offer some student positions.

Accommodation

Accommodation is available through the student services organisation ("Studierendenwerk") or on the private market. Rooms in student accommodation cost approx. 200-400 EUR per month. As Tübingen is a very attractive place to live, private accommodation is more expensive and can take some effort to find. To make sure you find a suitable place to live, you should start looking as early as possible.

We recommend you apply for student accommodation through the "Studierendenwerk" at the same time that you apply for admission to the programme and send in a copy of your notification of admission as soon as you have received it (your application won't be processed before the "Studierendenwerk" has received proof of your admission). For further information, check out the "Studierendenwerk" pages on housing in Tübingen: <https://www.my-stuwe.de/en/housing/>

For private accommodation, it is best to check the local newspaper (<http://www.tagblatt.de/Marktplatz/Immobilien>) or websites like "WG gesucht": <http://wg-gesucht.de>.

Career advisory service

The University of Tübingen has a wide range of counselling services available, including for the start of professional life.

Support for international students and doctoral candidates

- Accompanying programme
- Help with finding accommodation

General services and support for international students and doctoral candidates

The university offers a wide range of counselling services, both for prospective students and for all phases of study.

The TübAix programme offers tutoring programmes and regular consultation hours each week.

The university offers an "Orientation Week" for all newly arriving students in the week before the official start of the semester. For international students this includes the following:

- a "Welcome and Help Desk for International Students"
- the "Official Welcome for International Students"
- the advisory programme "How to Study at the University of Tübingen"
- a wide range of social activities offered by student groups

For the full orientation week programme, please refer to www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/90790 ("Advice and orientation").
