Description/content	The University of Kassel is one of the leading universities in Germany, and indeed in Europe, in the fields of energy and the environment, environmentally friendly construction, environmental systems research, and ecological agricultural science. IWU participants will benefit from this technical knowledge when they participate in the following English-taught seminar, offered by experts from the respective departments at the University of Kassel: Environmental Engineering - Renewable Energy Sources (45 hours of instruction, 5 ECTS) Students gain an extensive overview of environmental engineering issues not only from a local perspective but also from a German and a European perspective. This multifaceted approach allows students to look into different aspects of the subjects concerned and to develop their own research focus.

German Language Course

(30 hours of instruction, 3 ECTS)

In addition to the academic seminars in the respective disciplines, all students attend intensive German language courses. These courses are offered at three different levels (from beginners to advanced).

Services

Is accommodation organised?

Accommodation is arranged by the organiser.

Type of accommodation

Living with a German host family in Kassel, students will have a unique opportunity to experience German culture and everyday life first-hand. The homestay adds immeasurably to the study abroad experience and guarantees daily opportunities to improve both language and intercultural communication skills outside the classroom.

Meals

Accommodation with host families includes two meals per day. Breakfast and dinner will be provided by the host families, and an affordable lunch will be available at various campus cafeterias where vegetarian/vegan meals will also be served. At weekends, three meals a day will be provided by the host families.

Student

I had a really great time here in Kassel. The engineering lectures and courses at the IWU were thrilling. It was good to gain an insight into the numerous disciplines of engineering. For instance, we visited the "Viessmann-Werke" and inspected their biogas plants. We saw modern wind turbines nearly everywhere – Germany is definitively a lot more developed than other countries concerning green energy. I really want to return here for an internship in a German company!

University of Kassel

The University of Kassel is a young, modern, and lively university with a unique profile in natural sciences, engineering, culture, and society. The University of Kassel is uniquely focused on environmentally related education and research. This is reflected in the university's more than 60 study sectors related to environmental issues.

University location

Welcome to "boom town" Kassel, a combination of urban culture and pure nature - museums, art, culture, sports, leisure activities, mountains, lakes, and forests as far as the eye can see. At the same time, Kassel is well-connected to Berlin, Munich, Hamburg, and the Rhine and Ruhr regions. Kassel is home to approximately 200,000 people and looks back on more than a thousand years of history as the former capital of "Hessen-Kassel". Today Kassel is a vibrant, young town with a rich heritage.
