| Description/content | The focus of the MA British and American Studies programme is on intercultural knowledge and skills as well as on academic and research skills. It is centred around: <ul style="list-style-type: none">the English language and its varietiesthe diverse forms of literatures in Englishdifferent media such as films, newspapers, radio, or the InternetEnglish language cultures and their histories Within this spectrum, the Master of Arts programme in British and American Studies specialises in transculturation. Transculturation refers to processes of cultural exchange and intercultural phenomena. This allows students in this programme to broaden their horizons as well as to combine and connect linguistic, literary, and cultural studies to form a deeper understanding of these areas of research and life. In this MA programme, students learn to do research independently and academically thoroughly and to grow further as writers of academic papers in literary and cultural studies as well as linguistics. In addition, students learn to connect these disciplines and understand English studies as one bigger interconnected area of studies rather than smaller insular areas of expertise. In the | seminars of this degree programme, students get insight into different areas of English literary and cultural studies and linguistics, which they can apply and ground in a self-organised internship, in research projects they conduct themselves, in student conferences and in workshops they organise as a team.

Students interested in our MA British and American Studies programme should speak English on a very high level of proficiency and have existing knowledge of the discipline. They should also show a keen interest in all areas of study – albeit a focus can be chosen during their studies – and be open to working together with other students in this programme.

With a Master's degree in British and American studies, students can work for international companies, cultural organisations, and foundations both in Germany and abroad. They can go into teaching adults or find jobs in media companies or publishing houses. Academia is another career sector, even if it is a small one.

Please note that all classes are conducted in English.

Course Details

Course organisation

The Master's programme is organised in three basic and four main modules, one "Vertiefungsmodul" (advanced module) for the MA thesis and one module of individual supplementary study.

The three obligatory basic modules are (1) "Key Academic/Practical Skills", (2) "Theories of Language, Literature and Culture" and (3) "Contact Zones and Intercultural Studies". The basic modules should be taken in the first semesters.

The consecutive main modules are (1) "The English Language and the Processes of Culture", (2) "British Literatures and the Processes of Culture", (3) "North American Literatures and the Processes of Culture" and (4) "Media and the Processes of Culture". Students may choose three of the four main modules.

The "Vertiefungsmodul" is dedicated to the MA thesis.

For the Individual Supplementary Study Module, students can choose seminars from any other subject at the university, but they can also fill it with an internship or with courses accredited from a semester abroad.

Semester contribution

Since Bielefeld University does not charge tuition fees, every student only has to pay a social fee. The social fee includes the contribution to the social ticket for free public transport in the city and area of Bielefeld and on regional trains and buses in North-Rhine Westphalia for the whole semester.

The current semester contribution is approximately 300 EUR.

Costs of living

Costs for studying in Germany are relatively high due to the living expenses.

- Rent in a room in student halls of residence or a private student hall, in a room or flat comes to approx. 280 EUR per month.
- The expected costs for student health insurance and other medical fees are about 80 EUR per month.
- Depending on your lifestyle, you might spend about 150 EUR on food each month.
- Altogether, monthly costs for food, clothes, leisure activities, social fees, travel expenses, telephone bills, and the other mentioned expenses add up to approx. 850 EUR.

There are several ways of cutting expenses in Bielefeld. For example, it is possible to rent a room in a student residence for about 230 EUR, and a meal at the student canteen (Mensa) costs only about 2.60 EUR.
