Description/content	Bielefeld University's interdisciplinary two-year MA programme "World Studies: Orders, Politics, Cultures" combines scientific perspectives of law, history, sociology, political and cultural studies and provides students with in-depth knowledge of global structures and interactions. It prepares them for an international career in academia as well as in other professional fields with interdisciplinary and international requirements. An increasing number of professions throughout the world are no longer just internationally oriented but also require in-depth knowledge of global structures and interactions. The MA programme "World Studies" prepares students for a career in the following fields: <ul style="list-style-type: none">international governmental and non-governmental organisationsmarketing firms and global market research companiesadministration, unions, political parties, and labour unions, both national and internationalpublishing companies, newspapers, radio and TVuniversities and other institutions of higher education, research centres The MA programme is jointly convened by the Departments of Law, Sociology, History, and Literature/Cultural Studies. Accordingly, we address global processes and structures from diverse perspectives including social sciences, history, literary and cultural studies. The Master's programme aims at an enhanced understanding of structures and processes as globally interdependent and interconnected relationships. We understand "orders" as stable settings gathering the parts and a whole (e.g., in the sense of multi-level governance and international legal systems). "Politics" is concerned with the regulation of societies in transnational contexts. "Cultures" refers to contested interpretations, practices, and values pertaining to these orders and politics.

The "World Studies" MA programme is linked to two of Bielefeld University's research facilities dealing with questions of globalisation, the "Institute for World Societal Studies" (www.uni-bielefeld.de/fakultaeten/soziologie/forschung/iw/) and the Research Training Group "World Politics: The Emergence of Political Arenas and Modes of Observation in World Society" (<https://www.uni-bielefeld.de/fakultaeten/soziologie/forschung/worldpolitics>).

Course Details

Course organisation

The World Studies MA programme offers an international study programme with a duration of four semesters. After a broad and intensive introduction (Basic Module) in the first semester, the programme covers the following five study areas:

- Global Structures and Governance
- Global Entanglements
- Global Trade and Inequality
- World Society and Law
- Global Processes and Interactions

These study areas are covered in lectures as well as in seminars. During the fourth semester, the Master's thesis should be written.

In addition, students can take academic language training courses in English or German as well as in other languages.

Costs / Funding

Tuition fees per semester in EUR None

Semester contribution Since Bielefeld University does not charge tuition fees, every student only has to pay a social fee. The social fee includes the contribution to the social ticket for free public transport in the city and area of Bielefeld and on regional trains and buses in North-Rhine Westphalia for the whole semester.

The current semester contribution is approximately 300 EUR.

Costs of living

Costs for studying in Germany are relatively high due to the living expenses.

- Rent in a room in student halls of residence or a private student hall, in a room or flat comes to approx. 280 EUR per month.
- The expected costs for student health insurance and other medical fees are about 80 EUR per month.
- Depending on your lifestyle, you might spend about 150 EUR on food each month.
- Altogether, monthly costs for food, clothes, leisure activities, social fees, travel expenses, telephone bills, and the other mentioned expenses add up to approx. 850 EUR.

There are several ways of cutting expenses in Bielefeld. For example, it is possible to rent a room in a student residence for about 230 EUR, and a meal at the student canteen (Mensa) costs only about 2.60 EUR.

Requirements / Registration

Academic admission requirements

Prospective students must have an undergraduate degree in law, sociology, political science, history, or literature/cultural studies. An undergraduate degree in a related field with at least three years of higher education (usually a Bachelor's degree) might also be suitable.

Applicants with a degree from a related field must submit a work sample from their previous studies (e.g. an essay or the BA thesis), in order to prove the relatedness of their qualification to at least one of the five core fields of "World Studies". Applicants with a degree from the core fields of "World Studies" may also submit such a document (not compulsory though), in order to allow the selection committee a better appreciation of their skills.

If the BA diploma has not yet been received, other documents showing the content of the respective study course should be submitted. Examples of this include a transcript of records, diploma supplement, etc. or any document showing that the applicant is qualified for the Master's programme.

Applicants have to fill out a form (part of the online portal) detailing their verifiable knowledge in the methodology of one or more of the five core fields mentioned above.

Qualifications can only be reviewed if all the required documents are submitted within the application period.

Language requirements

Students must furnish proof of English proficiency at level B2 of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). This proof is usually given by any English language test such as TOEFL (iBT) with a minimum of 87 points, TELC English with a minimum grade of B2, IELTS with an overall band score of at least 6.0 or any other equivalent English language test at level B2. A degree from a programme taught completely in English is also deemed sufficient proof of English proficiency. A proof of proficiency in German is NOT necessary.

Application deadline

Applications will be received from 1 June to 15 July for the following winter semester.
