<tr>
<td>Target group</td>
<td>You are a BSc/BE student enrolled at a renowned university, have profound knowledge of the English language and are studying computer science, mechanical engineering or a related field. Ideally, you should have taken classes that address the following areas and thus already have basic knowledge in the following areas: mathematics, mechanics, materials science, thermodynamics, computer science/programming techniques, machine drawing/machine elements, and modelling. The minimum age to participate is 18. Students should have completed the first year of their studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Academic Content</td>
<td>The Summer School covers the fundamentals used in automation and simulation. In hands-on exercises and computer lab lectures, students solve real world problems using industry standard and open source software. As a result, methods used in mechanical engineering are tried, tested and acquired, enabling students to better use their skill set in the interdisciplinary engineering world. In addition, students learn about German language and culture in the language classes.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Academic Staff</td>
<td>The teaching is divided into an engineering part and a German language part. The Institute of General Mechanics (IAM) and a visiting scholar and long-standing friend of the IAM are responsible for the automation and simulation classes. The Language Center of RWTH Aachen University conducts the language classes.</td>

Summer School

„RWTH International Academy Summer School was one of the most inspiring experiences in my life, both academically and socially. The lectures and hands-on sessions were elaborately designed, and the teachers were all happy to help us.

The life in Aachen was quite comfortable and full of opportunities to meet wonderful friends.

I hope I can get back to RWTH Aachen again!“

RWTH Aachen University

With 260 institutes in nine faculties, RWTH Aachen University is one of Europe's leading institutions for science and research. Currently, around 45,000 students are enrolled in over 100 academic programmes. More than 10,000 of them are international students. The scientific education students receive at RWTH Aachen University is firmly rooted in real-world applications. Our graduates are highly sought after by businesses as trainees and for executive positions.
University location

Aachen, Germany's westernmost city, is located on the borders with Belgium and the Netherlands. Its population is about 240,000. Aachen’s historic centre around the distinctive cathedral (UNESCO world heritage site) is characterised by a student lifestyle. On the city’s doorsteps, the hilly Eifel landscape with its rivers, lakes, and forests offers a picturesque countryside for outdoor recreation. Aachen benefits greatly from its central location: in the heart of Europe!
